Angelese Sophia Ladson, B.K.A "Angie," was a vibrant fun-loving single mother of a daughter named Zhariya and her unborn son, Da'Von Scott, Jr. A native of Miami, Angie enjoyed spending time with her family and friends. Her greatest desires were to be a loving and supportive mother to her two children, and to graduate from college to pursue her dream of becoming a television broadcaster. Sadly, Angie's life ended at the age of 29 years old, when she became a victim of gun violence. She was 8 1/2 months pregnant with her son Da'Von, who would have been 7 years old this year had he been given a chance of life.

Jerry Wright, 31, grew up in Miami. As a child, he struggled with severe dyslexia and a speech impediment, and had to wear a full body brace to straighten his spine. But none of that stopped him from loving to communicate with others. He was the ultimate care giver. He graduated from FIU with a degree in Hospitality Management and worked for Disney. Jerry sadly became a victim of violence in 2016 at the Pulse Night Club in Orlando.

REB Scholarship

(Roman Edwin Bradley)

Valued at $500

Roman Bradley was born and raised in Miami. He had a charming personality, was very funny, enjoyed music, video games, and his favorite past-time activity was playing cards with his family. Roman was very athletic with a passion for football. He had a history of winning MVP as a defensive tackle and won his first super bowl ring when he played football for the Overtown Rattlers Optimist Team. Roman struggled in school with a learning disability and attention deficit disorder; however, he managed to stay focused and graduate earning a high school diploma. His dream was to become a construction engineer. He landed his first full-time job in the construction field as a general laborer and was hired to assist with the Miami Tunnel Bridge Project on the MacArthur Causeway. Roman worked almost one year before he and his best friend became victims of gun violence on March 1, 2012. Roman was 20 years old, expecting his first child and sadly he never witnessed her birth. His daughter, Royal, was born two months after his death.
